There could be no definition of a successful life that does not include service to others. Here in S.D.C.R we actually do that..it is true that one health camp or a single relief camp does not make much difference but in bulk it does..and the people here are trying their best to do so..by the people for the people.

RAJ DUTTA

State Vice Chairman

Life's most persistent and urgent question is,
"What are you doing for others?"
Martin Luther King

Here at Society for Disease Control and Research, we try to answer this question every day. We aim at collaborative efforts and selfless service. Via our medical Camps, research work, relevant clinical workshops we not only aim at helping the underprivileged but also upgrade the knowledge and clinical skills of every member involved. Through SDCR, all of us here strive to be a better human than we were before and leave the earth as a better place than we found it.

As a medico, we all have a wish inside to serve the neglected society, to provide health care to them which they can't afford. S.D.C.R. is an organisation which has come up with a very great and holy intention to serve the neglected people of the society. I'm really proud to be a member of this organisation because somehow I can also fulfil those things which I thought to do before choosing this Holy profession as a career.

SANDIPAN ROY
